Simon Lind Software designer

About

I have more than 8 years of experience shaping products through software design, frontend development and strategic product thinking. I co-founded Eduflow where I led product and design. We sold Eduflow to Multiverse in 2023 and that's where I'm currently working as a Design Lead. When I'm not mulling over pixels, user stories and code I like to spend my time in a pair of running shoes. I enjoy distance running, but these days I'm mostly running after my two toddlers to keep them out of trouble.
